Nineteen Hundred and Twenty-nine

VOLUME VII

Published by
The Senior Class of Louisburg College
Louisburg, N. C.

Foreword

THAT we may hold in trust for life that is yet to be lived, the best of these bright days that have been ours—

That from this happy present of ours, we may garner strength for life's heavier tasks—

That in remembering we may transmute the sorrows into sunshine, the friendships into loyalties that will outlive time—this OAK of '29 is cast as an anchor against the flood of time's forgetfulness.

April 21

You are of tenacious nature and make up your mind definitely and positively. You are generous and fond of good things which you share with others. You aim high but likely to make an unhappy marriage if not careful. You are fearless, busy, dominating, argumentative. You can make money if you are so determined but you do not save easily. In spite of your positiveness you are likely to be easily led at times. You are likely to be a physician, a nurse, a bookkeeper or a cook.

You come under the sign that is symbolized by the "Twins," which signifies a very vivacious, nervous and restless nature. In judgment, through inherent ability, you can be relied upon to give a far-sighted view, supported by intellectual guidance and analysis. Avocationally, you have the ability of a dramatist, teacher, or critic. Vocationally, you have power of concentration, geometric attunement, and love of beauty together with dramatic and creative impulses that fit you for sculpturing or painting. Your path is built in changes of every sort.

You have an idealistic, poetic, artistic, nature. Great achievements are ever before you but you let them seem distant. Nothing is out of your reach if you will keep quiet and grow. You lack enthusiastic endurance; are faithful, loving, loyal. You will be a true devoted wife and mother. You have congenial friends, you rely chiefly on intuitions, you have an intense desire to know why and wherefore of everything. You like to be entertained but like to entertain others. Your latch string is always out. You would make a good artist, musician, mental healer or a superintendent of insane retreat.

Scorpio gives you great self confidence, determination and much reserve. On emotional planes you are governed by impulse and strong emotive power which primarily places you in the dramatic and artistic spheres. Through your motive temperament you have great endurance in the physical system with energy capacity for work and strongly marked character in which executiveness, persistence and directness are noticeable traits.

Great executive ability, a keen mind, always in search of knowledge, very little happens around you but what you know it; very thoughtful of family and friends. Not always opportune with your advice, and with all best intentions of the world, you are likely to be annoying. Learn to withhold your spoken advice. Remember the words of Whittier, "Into each life some drops of rain must fall" and if your friend seems to be making a mistake do not forget, too much advice will do more harm than good. Great possibilities but you waste your many gifts. A great thinker but often lack cortinuity of thought. You are of those who can be helpful but can be easily lazy. You do not like to be poor. You are apt to be nervous and hysterical unless you can overcome it early in life. You are proud and do not like to accept favors. You seem to have two natures. You are full of vivacity, uncertain at times which way to turn but following in a headstrong way the impulse of the moment. In spite of fear and doubt you can be heroic and capable of self service.

Decidedly scientific in taste and with a versatility that adapts you to most any calling and if what you have is a little better than anybody else's it does not worry you. Alma Mater, gift of gods thou art;
We looked to thee for wisdom and for love.
E'en as the charms of gay Pandora's heart
Were boundless gifts from all the gods above,
So did'st thou gracious gifts on us bestow,
That we might drink from whence doth knowledge flow
Until at last we conquer in our youth.
We strove, we sought, we found—and then did yield,
For like Pandora lifted we the lid
And found to our dismay sorrows to wield;
Despair, and pain, and grief, as Pandora did.
But Hope remained to help us in the fight.
Thank God! This Hope will be our guiding light.

Last Will and Testament

MOUNT OLYMPUS
TEMPLE OF WISDOM } FUTURE HOME OF ALL WISE SENIORS

Being now in sound mind, although somewhat wearied from climbing, we pause for a last thought of our Alma Mater before dismissing from our minds all earthly cares. Having, for two years, toiled in order that we might be admitted to the Sacred Mount, we now feel fully competent to give such advice and earthly goods as this document, the Last Will and Testament of the Class of '29, doth include:

1. We ourselves have renounced all thoughts of wedded bliss, but if there be Junior girls possessing a desire for matrimony we recommended a large dose of Dorothy Dix's advice to be taken once a day for at least fifty years. Consult Diana also.

2. To Miss Betts, our beloved dean, we will a bell which will ring automatically during all meals of the day. If the beneficiary will consult the Oracle at Delphi, we have reason to believe that her every summons will be surcharged with great authority.

3. To Mr. Mohn we will a million dollar check of love and good wishes. If this check bear the stamp of the Celestial Treasury Department of Mount Olympus, the future of our college is assured, for even the Southern Association of Colleges would lack the audacity to refuse accredited standing to an income secured from the bank of Jupiter.

4. To Miss Alma Bizzell we give an airplane so that she may travel faster and more often. In case this means of transportation prove unsatisfactory, we pledge Miss Bizzell the winged sandals of Mercury.

5. To Miss Lilly Letton we will an endless chain of highways upon which she may walk undisturbed by the world, and meditate upon the complexity of a compound sentence until she reaches the Elysian gates.

6. To Miss Ziegler we give long, black, curly hair—the tresses of JUNO.

7. To Mr. Bross we give a beautiful lake, a lovely moon, a tiny bungalow surrounded by Reeds—but not the kind of which the pipes of Pan were made.

8. Carrie Belle Ruffin wills her charming laugh with all its silvery tinkles to Frances Greason so that she may accompany Orpheus.

9. Frances Godwin wills her famous speech on Student Government at Louisburg College to all those aspiring for Patrick Henry's boldness, George Washington's ability for lying, and Florence Bryant's conceit. Demosthenes, please take notice!

10. To Beatrice Hill, the tiniest member of the Junior Class, we suggest Kathryn Bullock's successful method of reducing. In case this should fail we recommend cream from the Milky Way.

11. To Eva James Elliott we bequeath a life size portrait of Odette Brown, which shall be hung on one side of the room and mirrors so adjusted that Odette may be seen from every angle of the room. The passion of Psyche is rich reward.

12. To Miss Crenshaw we will an estate in Ireland so that she may raise bigger and better table napkins. Lend your aid, Apollo!

13. To the State Penitentiary we gladly give the "dead line," the landing place of Charon, with the benevolent wish that it may bring them as much entertainment as it has us.

14. To all those who are superstitious, we add a fourteenth division:

(1) Gratitude to the people of Franklin County who have helped us so readily.

(2) Love to our college friends and faculty.

(3) Loyalty to our Alma Mater.

Ratifying and confirming this to be the Last Will and Testament of the class of 1929. In witness whereof we have set our hand and seal on the first day of June in the year of our Lord one thousand, nine hundred and twenty-nine.

Prophecy

JUST as Colonel Lindbergh started his non-stop flight across the Atlantic in 1927, so the present senior class of Louisburg College began their non-stop efforts in that same year, to secure a diploma. No doubt many events of great importance happened in the outside world in these two years, but what were presidential elections and Arctic explorations in comparison to our struggle to reach the shore of our heart's ambition—Graduation. At last we began to see the dim outlines of that shore, and we realized that we must plan for a class reunion to keep alive the sentiments aroused by our long struggle and all that had made it possible. The class finally decided to have a house-boat party every five years.

One summer's day of the year of 1949, I was hurrying out of my office to escape the eager eyes of my secretary, Miss Odette Brown, who was always insisting upon my keeping all my social engagements as well as those of the court room. I had had a very trying day, having had to plead a divorce case for one of my old classmates, Carrie Belle Ruffin. As I was putting on my hat, Miss Brown called to me, "Oh, Miss Godwin I just ran across this memorandum about a houseboat party on August11."

"Have I any cases on the docket for that day, Miss Brown?"

"No."

"Well, suppose we go on this party. Have you forgotten that it is for the class of '29 from Louisburg College?

"No, I was hoping you'd remember and I do want to go."

Putting all office cares off our mind, Miss Brown and I packed as hurriedly as possible and left for Wilmington in my Packard eight, with my competent chauffeur, Madge Sexton, at the wheel.

Upon arriving in Wilmington we immediately went down to the water. There we found a yacht waiting. We stepped aboard and were greeted by several members of the class. I was in the midst of a conversation with Kathryn Bullock, when I saw a gruff looking old man. Who was he? I went over and asked him if he were Captain.

"Charon, madame, Charon," was the reply I received. This name sounded vaguely familiar, yet I wondered who was responsible for having hired such an unpleasant creature.

I took up my conversation with my classmates, Virgie Sheffield, Pearl Gatling, Lucy and Louise Melvin. Of course Lucy and Louise were both along for what would one do without the other?

As the boat was pulling away from shore, appeared Ruth King, Margaret Poyner, Vivian Davis, La Rue Dixon and Jane Mercer. We were wondering how to dispose of our baggage when some one hailed a porter. To our great astonishment we discovered the porter to be Lucy Wynne. She immediately called three others to help her: Dorothy Piland, Minnie Pendleton and Elizabeth Forlaw. Not long after that I heard people running and shouting on deck. I hurried up to join the crowd against the rail. Three swimmers were drawing near the boat. As soon as they reached the deck, they began arguing as to who had won. Since Dicie Sanderson could outtalk Eunice Smith and Katie Wood, every one was convinced that she had won the Catalina races for the past five years. It was not until everyone was seated at dinner that we realized who the missing members were.

The problem about Eugenia Howard and Frances Winstead was quickly solved because Rachel Lee said, "Oh! yes, I saw them talking to some sheiks as the boat was pulling away from shore."

"Kathryn Bullock! Kathryn Bullock! President of the Senior class!" shrieked a Western Union boy.

"Here I am!—just listen—Couldn't decide whether to wear sport dresses or afternoon dresses missed the train," signed, Ruth Barker and Lucille Teachey.

"Now isn't that just like them? Their frock shoppe certainly is a whang though," said Rachel Lee. "Frances Winstead and I worked for them for a while but we are now with Bellas Hess—Eugenia Howard did not like the work, so she is a Book agent.

During dinner Virgie Sheffield arose to speak, "I am sure you want to know why Mary Gladys Capps, Annie Lee Thomas and Louvenia Ethridge are not with us. Well, I am now editor of the Creedmoor Daily, and they are my reporters. This is such a busy time for reporters that they were unable to come. By the way, in my paper last week, the wedding of Miss Agnes Harrell to Dr. Scott was announced. They are now touring Northern cities.

Ruth was next to speak. "Margaret Poyner, Inez Dudley, Anna Burton and I are the antique business. Come and buy a door knocker from us."

Kathryn Bullock interrupted, "I just wanted to tell you that all my beauty came from a beauty shoppe of which Elma Russell is proprietor. Annie Lambeth, Mary Jones and Betty Rouse are working with her."

At this point, I began, "Carrie Belle Ruffin has just gotten a divorce from her husband. The other day I walked into a tea room in New Orleans and saw Thelma Harris, Elsie Maddrey and Kathryn Graham. They are doing wonderfully in their business."

"Have you all heard about Helen Wilkerson, Helen Lance and Margaret Stein?" They have charge of an aviation field near Paris and their best aviatrix is Lucille Sparrow. She is now trying to break Lindbergh's record delivering mail.

"And you Vivian, what are you doing?" asked someone.

"Oh! Hilda Wheless and I are Girl-scout executives. We were at a convention in Europe last month."

Jeanne Tingles name was brought up at this time. "She is a prohibition agent and I'm going to work with her next year," said Kathryn Bullock. Then everyone laughed.

"What are you doing now, Jane?" asked Virgie. "Oh! I'm leaving next month for Africa to do missionary work."

"What!" exclaimed La Rue Dixon, "going to Africa?"

"Why that isn't anything," responded Jane. "Letha Swain is teaching in Alaska, Maudie Perry in India, and Berta Mae Owen, Hawaii. What are you doing La Rue?"

"I'm in the movies with Elsie Woolridge."

"That's great!" It was Pearl Gatling who spoke. "I'm going in the movies too. Florence Bryant, Ethel Callis, Lucy and Louise Melvin are in Hollywood and like the work fine. Emma Ewing thought once of joining them, but she decided to be a saleswoman for Frigidaire's."

"Louise Brown's daughter is to be married in June to a member of the royal family of England."

"Well, tell me please, what Esther Blanton and Josie Avent are doing?"

"They have charge of a bus line from Hollywood to Louisburg. They thought that would induce more Louisburg beauties to go into the movies."

"Tell us, Egeta, what you are doing now."

"I have taken Miss Reid's place at Louisburg. She resigned last year when she and Mr. Bross purchased a joint ownership in the Sir Walter at Raleigh."

"Dera, what is your occupation?" asked Almeda Sawyer.

"Oh! I'm taking campus courses at Wake Forest. Edith Alston, Elsie Herman, Mae Haskins, Lucille Bulla, and Eliza Newell have finished their work there and are married."

"Something has happened!" cried someone. The boat jarred as these words were heard:

"All off for Hades!!! Special Attraction! Louisburg College executive board trying to work the honor system."

"Whoopie! cried La Rue Dixon, I wish I could see that sight, but I have an appointment with Venus to find out some beauty secrets."

"So have I," replied Kathryn Bullock. "If I don't get rid of some of this fat I'm sure my divorce case will be on docket."

The next stop was at the home of Minerva, "Frances," spoke Madge, "now you can clear up all matters concerning the case you were worrying about and I can find out whether Queen Elizabeth was a man or a woman. Come on let's go!"

As we were leaving the boat, Charon blocked our way asking for the tickets. "Read your ticket! Look at the date! Yours is good for fifteen years yet. What do you mean by being on this boat? Go back, live fifteen years, and get the right ticket before you enter this houseboat again."

Madge turned to me and remarked, "Well, Lawyer Godwin, we must be recovering from the crash caused when I hit that telephone pole."

FRANCES LUCILE GODWIN.

Senior Class Song

TUNE: "Hello Aloha"

We are thinking today of the future,
Of the days that are to come,
When classmates here have scattered
And afar from you we roam.
We will boost our Alma Mater
The school we love so dear;
Tomorrow, memories will bring us
A laugh, a sigh, a tear.

To you dear old Alma Mater
We'll sing our praises true
Always to you.
Within your walls 'tis' sweet to dwell
And linger while we may;
When from you we shall turn aside
Our thoughts with you shall still abide,
Our class so great with spirit fine,
All hail! dear class of twenty-nine.
So, good-bye we leave you forever
Em-blem of glory,
And joy of youth!

Good-bye, to you our Alma Mater
We pledge our hearts to you
Forever true;
Our honor to your name we give,
Our love unfailing, our loyalty
With you; we've worked, we've fought, we've played
And love our friends we've made,
For all that thou has't given to us
We give thee thanks today.
So good-bye we leave you, forever
Em-blem of glo-ry
And joy of youth!

ALCYONE

The Story of the Pleiades

The Pleiades were the daughters of Atlas and Pleione, and nymphs of Diana's train, whom the gods placed among the stars, near their half-sisters, the Hyades. Their names are Alcyone, Electra, Maia, Merope, Taygeta, Asterope, and Celaeno.

> The group of sister stars, which mothers love
> To show their wondering babes, the gentle seven.

One day, when strolling through the forest, the seven nymphs were pursued by the hunter Orion, who was attracted by their great beauty. As they fled, they prayed in their distress to the gods for rescue. When Orion was about to overtake them, Jupiter, in pity, changed them into doves, and transferred them to the heavens.

> . . . the gray
> Dawn and the Pleiades before him danc'd
> Shedding sweet influence.

College Life

Just to Make You Smile

ODETTE BROWN: Eva James, why don't you put your slicker on?
EVA JAMES: I can't. I got a book in one hand, and it won't go through the sleeve.

MAYBELLE TO MADGE: Are you the big girl on the campus?
MADGE: Well, I dunno' about that, but I'm the big noise at the library.

MISS YANCEY: What do they call the instrument the French use for beheading people?
MIRIAM WHEDBEE: The Gillette, I think.

MISS BIZZELL: Frances, what is the law of gravity?
FRANCES GODWIN: It's something that falls.

MISS SHADE: Who was Matthew?
ELIZABETH SPARROW: Oh, he was a Republican.

MISS BIZZELL (to student): What is an axiom?
STUDENT: A general statement admitted without proof.
MISS BIZZELL: Give an example.
STUDENT: There is a God.

A REVIEW OF THE HISTORY QUIZ

QUESTION: What led Columbus to discover America?
ANSWER: He was looking for Indiana when he ran across America.
QUESTION: What aided his discovery?
ANSWER: The invention of the microscope.

LUCY (reading aloud): John appeared in immaculate evening dress. What does immaculate mean?
TOOTS: No stains on it.

DICIE SANDERSON: I want some notebook paper.
MILDRED RAMSEY: What size?
DICIE: Oh, I don't care, just so it fits.

MISS WALKER: Any questions?
MARION BISHOP: Yes, what course is this?

EDITH GARRISS: How much did Helen of Troy weigh?
GWENDOLYN BAUGHAM: I don't know anything about Troy weight.

MISS BARNETT: Who was King of France during the revolution?
KATHRYN BULLOCK: Louis the Thirteenth—no, the Fourteenth—no, the, well anyhow he was in his teens.

Merry Makers

LA RUE DIXON: From whence them motley freckles?
JANE MERCER: From eating rusty raisins.

SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHER: Who defeated the Philistines?
REBECCA COOPER (yawning): I don't know a thing about baseball.

MARY HOWARD TO MARIANNA BAGLEY: Why don't you bob your hair?
MARIANNA: I can't decide whether to make it look like a whisk broom or a feather duster.

EMMA EWING: May I serve you some mashed potatoes, Margaret?
MARGARET POTEAT: Yes, please. With two lumps.

RUTH BARKER: Marie, your cheeks look just like peach blossoms.
MARIE GROOME: Darn it! I wanted them to look like roses.

MISS WOOD: Why don't you answer me?
LOUISE MELVIN: I did, Miss Wood. I shook my head.
MISS WOOD: But you don't expect me to hear it rattle up here, do you?

LUCILE TEACHEY: Ouch, I just bumped my crazy bone.
FRANCES GREASON: Never mind, just comb your hair different and the bump won't show.

MISS CRENSHAW: Your trouble, Mary, is remembering dates.
MARY CRANMER: Say, Miss Crenshaw, you've got me wrong. I never missed a date in my life.

EDNA BRYAN: I believe this school is haunted.
FANNIE CLEVE: Why?
EDNA: They are always talking about the school spirit.

MISS LETTON: Give an example of a collective noun.
THIRD ROW FROM THE REAR: Vacuum cleaner.

OLA MORRIS: My brother threw a cake at me. One that I made myself, too.
EUNICE SMITH: The brute! He might have killed you.

BUILDERS of DREAMS

VISIONS created by the imagination precede the achievement of any really great accomplishment. The ability to weave the threads of imagination into the finished fabric is equally important.

It has been the privilege of the EDWARDS & BROUGHTON COMPANY to interpret the ideas of the Staff and create in material form their vision.

From the art work and engravings to the finished book, this volume is the result of organized coöperation with the Staff.

Such able coöperation is one of the "visions" which precede the building of a successful business, and is a part of the working policy of the EDWARDS & BROUGHTON COMPANY.

To those Staffs desiring complete co-operation from art work and engravings to the finished book, we offer unexcelled service. Complete service means undivided responsibility as to the result—one organization to correspond and talk with—one trained director to merge the many ingredients into the finished product.

You, too, may be proud of your annual.
